About Our Tournament...

Joann Jennings, mother of James Jennings who had Down Syndrome, was an inspiration to Special Needs families throughout Southern California. She fought for inclusion in our schools, rights in our community and strength in our network. James, known as "James Bond", had a larger than life personality and won the heart of perfect strangers with his ability to make friends in every social circle. Joann passed in 2006 and James passed in 2009. Through this tournament we are able to continue their legacy in the Special Needs Community.

How You Can Help...

Proceeds raised will be used to continue educational outreach to families with Special Needs loved ones, by providing consultations, peer mentoring, facilitation of skill building opportunities and informational seminars.

Please take a moment to consider our sponsorship opportunities listed on the inside.

Thank you, in advance, for your assistance in making this the success our families and children are counting on!

A huge part of our success in previous years is attributed to our raffle. Please consider donating items that can be used as a raffle and/or placed into our goody bags.

Please send your contributions to:
